ABOUT ME:

Having been born and raised in Brussels, I moved to Wallonia around ten years ago to live and work there.

MY BACKGROUND:

Having always been drawn to the visual arts, I tried my hand at a variety of techniques, and it was at the Ixelles Academy of Fine Arts that I was best able to satisfy my curiosity.

After studying architectural engineering, which combined analytical and creative aspects, I now work in a field that is almost exclusively analytical. The need to express my creative side led me to return to the creative arts in my private life.

I thus took up painting again in 2016 and more diligently in 2020 following the lockdown.

MY WORK:

Painting is the means by which I free my thoughts, allowing them to run wild. Curves and arabesques emerge whilst following the guiding thread of the blurred image of the object to be defined.

Acrylic allows me to work with precision and instinct. The monochrome and two-tone work in this series reflects my strong personal affinity for minimalist movements and the 'less is more' philosophy.
